

Ryan Bradt

Training Director
Puget Sound Electrical JATC
Renton, Washington

Calling the Pacific Northwest home, Ryan Bradt is a licensed electrician and administrator in Washington State, with nearly 20 years of experience in the electrical construction industry. He currently serves as the training director at the Puget Sound Electrical Joint Apprenticeship Training Committee (PSEJATC) in Renton, Washington. In this role, Ryan oversees an apprentice training center for over 1,200 electricians across three locations in the greater Seattle area. Ryan holds an A.A.S. degree from Wenatchee Valley College and is a proud fourth-generation International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) electrician. His career began in 1997 as an apprentice with the NW WA Electrical JATC and spans a decade in commercial and industrial electrical construction. Over the years, he has held multiple roles, including assistant training director at PSEJATC, instructor/assistant training director at Northwest Washington Electrical JATC, and adjunct instructor at Solar Energy International and Shoreline College. Ryan's extensive background and dedication to the industry make him a valuable leader and educator in the field of electrical construction.