

Jovanka Charbonneau

Senior Economist
Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC)
Montréal, Québec

Jovanka Charbonneau is a senior economist at the Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC). She is responsible for the organization's economic monitoring and macroeconomic forecasting, as well as BDC's monthly economic newsletter, an electronic publication that provides entrepreneurs with information on current economic conditions affecting their businesses. Charbonneau holds a master's degree in economics from the Université du Québec à Montréal and a certificate in big data and machine learning applied to economics and finance.