

Jeannine Markoe Raymond

Director of Federal Relations
National Association of State Retirement Administrators
Washington, D.C.

Jeannine Raymond is the director of federal relations for the National Association of State Retirement Administrators (NASRA). NASRA is a non-partisan, non-profit professional association of the executive directors of the nation's largest public retirement systems. Ms. Raymond is the association's liaison to Congress and the Administration, as well as other national associations, policy organizations, and stakeholder groups. She coordinates policy, outreach and educational efforts on federal legislative and regulatory matters; is a contributor to publications surrounding state retirement system policies and administration; and is a frequent speaker on these issues. Ms. Raymond serves on the advisory board of the Wharton Business School's Pension Research Council, is a member of the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans' Government Liaison Committee, is vice president of the Coalition to Preserve Retirement Security, and is a member of the Tax Coalition. She is on the board of Women in Government Relations and was a co-chair of their Financial Services Task Force. Ms. Raymond was a congressionally appointed delegate to the 2002 National Summit on Retirement Savings. Ms. Raymond received a B.A. degree in economics, with honors, from the University of California, San Diego, and an M.A. degree, with honors, in public administration and intergovernmental management from the University of Southern California. She serves on the Board of Trustees of Calvary United Methodist Church, and she is the board chair of Calvary Children's School, in Arlington, Virginia.